ATLONA TECHNOLOGIES ADDS TO THEIR VGA ACCESSORY LINE WITH A 1x4 VGA DISTRIBUTION AMPLIFIER/SPLITTER, THE AT-VGA14

Atlona Technologies, solutions manufacturer of audio video accessories, officially releases their new 1x4 VGA distribution amplifier, the AT-VGA14

Atlona Technologies is once again adding to their Splitter line with the addition of multiple new VGA Distribution Amplifiers; including the all new AT-VGA14. The AT-VGA14 is a 1x4 VGA Distribution Amplifier designed to work as a splitter for any VGA Video application. Users distributing video signal over VGA to multiple displays for digital signage, educational, and boardroom AV applications will find this splitter simple to use and install, no matter what level of AV or computer expertise. With 1 VGA Input and 4 VGA Outputs, this unit is capable of splitting any signal from one VGA source to four separate devices with compatible VGA inputs.

Atlona's 1x4 Distribution Amplifier has a built in amplifier, allowing this unit the capability to boost signal great distances, while preventing both signal loss as well as picture degradation. With a maximum bandwidth of 1GHz, this Atlona splitter will support sharp and highly defined video in multiple resolutions of up to 2048x2048, and is perfect for all Video equipment that using VGA signal such as Cable and Satellite receivers, PCs, Video Scalers, and more.

These units are perfect for in store video displays, education and worship facility applications, and especially beneficial for high quality digital signage. The AT-VGA14 is officially available with an MSRP of 179.00
